

Curriculum Ismaele Consorte

My name is Ismaele Consorte.

I really wanted to become a priest or a soldier, or a sailor : instead I was bound to everyday work. Actually, after I sailed in the Mercantile Marine for a few years, I dedicated my spare time to sailing, to the sea.

I have always been very fond of wandering about the Dalmatian and Greek islands, and when I had more spare time I wandered further and farther .

I love departures , less when it's time to come home.

In my daily sail-outs, I know but 2 directions : out, far, towards the open sea and back.

I don't see a big difference between being a sailor and being a vagabond; maybe the difference is just in between, that small space in which you move.

I have friends that are a part of the team; I share with them my experiences : all great shipmates.

Collecting miles and glancing beyond the horizon, this is what I yearn for.

With CD Sailing, my dreams come true.

Crossing the ocean with a sailing boat, when this is no longer a dream, means enjoying the day you are spending in the sea and anticipating the pleasures of the day after.

And each and every day that I spend in the open sea gives me the awareness that, yes, I'm in the right place, where I belong.
